The graph shows the trend of real GDP (realgdp) over the years 2000 to 2009. The trend line is represented by an orange line, while the actual GDP values are represented by a blue line. The GDP values fluctuate around the trend line, indicating economic growth and fluctuations during this period.